

SRI LANKA LAW COLLEGE NOTICE

As part of professional etiquette, students at Sri Lanka Law College must adhere to an appropriate dress code. As a result, when on Law College premises, all students must follow the following dress code policy.

The following dress code rules must be followed:

During regular lecture hours, moot court sessions, seminars, and any other academic or professional events organized by the Law College, all students are expected to dress appropriately.

- Males : Shirt (with collar) and tucked-in pants, as well as shoes (no slippers or sandals), no T-shirts, denims or polo shirts.
- Females : Dress/skirts/trousers with a blouse/kurtas/abaya or saree and appropriate shoes, no denims.

The Principal's Office has instructed Security Officials to ensure that students comply with the above requirements.

Your dress reflects not only on you, but also on our Law College's reputation. It contributes to the overall professional environment that we want to maintain.

Thank you for your time and consideration as a prospective professional in our country.
